The Decision	False Masculinity	The Losing Room	Empathy	Accepting Responsibility

Questions

1. According to Joe, what is the job of a coach? What is the job of a player?
2. What was Joe's understanding of manhood as a boy? What is his understanding of manhood now?
3. What is your pre-game routine, if you have one? You might consider not just what you do as an athlete, if you play a sport, but also what you do as a student and as a person before a major test/event. What did the Gilman football team do as a pregame routine?
4. In Chapter 12, Biff talks about the Book of Job and Job's integrity as a man. Read from your Bible, the Book of Job, Chapters 40-42. Briefly describe Job's conversation with God. What had happened to Job? Was it pleasant? Did Job lose faith in the face of adversity? Did Job have the 'right' to hate God? Did he? What was God's response? What was Job's reward?
5. In Chapter 21, Jeff describes the philosophy of his first basketball coach: "No Regrets." Why did this stand out in Jeff's mind? What did he do as a result?
6. Have you ever had a relationship with a coach like Joe or Biff? Do you spend time just getting to know your mother and/or father as people?
7. Define "victory". How does one achieve "victory"?
